EDITORIAL SPEAKING

One doesn't know just how much fun editing can be, until one has to type up crossables or games. Yet the crosseditor would be the worse without them. All-in-all, though, this time has not been so bad because the time given hasn't gone, looking over the info turned in for this time's cross cause for a few special reports that we can't fit into this time's first, congratulations once again to Rick Case this time for winning the 1985 ND Grand Prix. It takes a lot to be able to make it to so many tournaments, and we all appreciate those who seem to show up all the time. That is most especially true for those of us who organize and/or direct the events that keep North Dakota busy with chess. Rick has proved what can be accomplished when one gets really involved, and we could all take several lessons from his participation, and as well from his constant ability to finish in the prizes! Second, a word of thanks to Dave Rosley who directed the 1985 Grand Prix. Compiling all of those scores, and especially in the face of delays caused by missing crossables, deserves special recognition for a job well done. Thirdly, a word of thanks to Somner Sorenson who keeps directing class events in Moorhead, even when the turnout is not so hot. My own apologies for not making to the F-M spring events. Lack of a budget is no excuse when there is car-pooling, etc., available. Somner is not from North Dakota, but is still very much a part of the North Dakota Chess Scene. Where would we be if he didn't give as much of his time as he does. Finally, I want to say thanks again to all who contributed to this issue, especially co-editor Laboyne Spitchal. Without them, there would be no newsletter.

CHESS NEWS - JAMESTOWN

The Jamestown Chess Club has been somewhat down and lazy, the last few months. I do have a tentative date for the second Jamestown Chess Open (Nov. 15/16) and with a little help, should get it off the ground. Prize money should be as good as better than last year. The rest of this article is for those who need to renew your NCA memberships. JAMESTOWN MEMBERS PLEASE REMEMBER YOUR NCA MEMBERSHIPS AT ONCE AND SEE KEVIN BRUNER ABOUT YOUR ANNUAL DUES SO THAT WE HAVE FUNDS TO RUN OUR USCF AFFILIATION. The club will be back in full swing in September, although some of us are still getting together over the summer.

Bon Schauer
President-Elect, NCA

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK
(by Dave Rosley)

Either the competition is tough, which it is, or that all ND players are of A & B at birth. No longer can a player among the closed amateurs, whether there eating say so or not, especially when of late tournaments that I have been involved with, be classified as Class tournaments (A+B). Come on folks what does it take for you to come out to our tournament, higher prize fund? (Last year the Annual NCA meeting voted to add $100 to the prize fund), that action method only 27 players. How about it, know of that has trophies. The past three or four years attendance has slid. It can't be the site, Bismarck's Central Inn, the site for the last few years, it is great! It's well lit, excellent facilities, even seats and boards are furnished. The directing is also great! Is it that no players are spoiled. I really don't know. Players that play chess out of state find out how good it is back in North Dakota.

It seems that I've been aiming this game going about lack of ND player participation for the last few years. But the bulk of NDCA's work is shouldered by a very few people. I can see NDCA's house of cards come tumbling down.

Final Standings for the 1985 North Dakota Grand Prix have finally been completed. The top 10 are listed below.

(Solutions on last page.)

While capacity crowds were taking part in Pawn Wars and the South Dakota Team Championships, a few players entered the Moorhead International Cyclone and the International Team Championship Match 6/21-22. Somehow they found out about it, not in NDOA Newsletter (which just said June--See Somner Sorenson; no one inquired) and not in the Fargo Forum, which chose not to run the story submitted, but some secrets are hard to keep.

By 10 a.m. six players had entered on Saturday. Dave Rosley was sitting there and said he would enter if I would. We entered and commenced round 1. After a while Wayne Wilkes of Bloomington showed up. Since all entries decreased the loss for the tournament, I let him in, intending to cross pair him as soon as possible. Twenty minutes later S. A. Popel entered the room and the tournament, so I paired Popel and Wilkes. The tournament took in $100 in entries and dispersed $150 in prizes. NDOA member S. A. Popel took first with 3-0. The rest of the prize fund was divided. Jon Heimarck and Mark Jarmasz shared second place with NDOA members Rosley and Sorenson. NDOAer Gordon Hanson did not come in on the prize money. All that I can say is that some of you missed out on easy prize money.

In the speed tourney that evening three Winnipeg players won the prizes: Glenn Johnstone 1st, Mike Hopper 2nd and D. Cyncore 3rd. The top U2000-top U1700.

But in the team match on Sunday the heroic (even if impromptu) North Dakota team trounced Minnesota 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ -1 $\frac{1}{2}$ . (Yes, Minnesota also lost by a point to Manitoba, 8-7.) Results of the Cyclone and ND-MN match are given below.

16th Red River Open Report - by Somnor Sorenson

Thanks to some unexpected at-site entries, the 16th Red River Open was not quite the catastrophe that the F-M Chess Council had foreseen on the eve of the tournament. That is not to say the tourney was not a disaster for individual players (like me for Instance), but the turnout was still the smallest in Red River Open history. Even the first one back in January, 1971, which opened as a blizzard had paralyzed the area, had 19 brave entries. This one had 18 in good weather. Still, The organizers thank those 18. They produced an interesting tournament and some good fighting chess. And if the tournament lost a little, the organizers will fatten the purse and guarantee the prizes.

The 1986 Red River Open certainly took some unpredictable turns as it meandered its way to a conclusion. After the first round, only four perfect scores remained!! In the third, Bergh and Turmo, the only "2-0's left, drew their game. In round 4, Turmo beat Meyer while Bergh used the old sack-your-bishop-in-the-endgame trick to defeat Pres. Terry Ness. In the Finale, Bergh and Roose drew fairly quickly, but the Turmo/Silas game was slugged out on board 1 till long after even Starr and Meyer had finished. The endgame was very hairy, unpredictable, and exciting. Several observers had to be "revived with salts" before it was over. Other players rushed out to the East Room, periodically, to examine lines they thought should be, or should have been played. It came down to the following position: Turmo (white) has 3 pawns and a knight versus Silas's (black) 2 pawns and a knight. (See enclosed diagram.)

When the game was over, the bystanders showered Turmo with Gold Pieces. Well, All Right, would you believe that an officer of F-M Chess wrote him a check? This made Steve Turmo the repeat champion. In second was Jeff Bergh, now also of Fargo. Class A prizes were shared by Terry Ness and Jeff Silas (Eden Prairie, MN). Class B was split among Ronald Kousa, Dr. Calvin Wipf, and Bruce Meyer. Rev. Arthur Bayley shared the C-Unrated prize with Konrad Sobowicz, of International Falls, MN.

Play goes 1. P-R5 P-B5 2. NxP+! NxN 3. P-N4. At this point, Dr. Gerald Heuer, whose picture had been taken during round 2 and was on the front page of the Sunday Forum, handed me a scrap of paper suggesting, "Kd4 - draw?" I shook my head. 3. ... P-B6+ 4. K-B2 K-Q5? 5. PxN and game is won quickly. I Had been thinking of 4. ... N-K3, or 4. ... N-N6. Over in the East Room, Jeff Bergh was showing Meyer that 4. ... N-R3, 5. P-B5, Nc7, draws. So does N-K3. I leave it to the reader to figure the possibilities of 4. ... N-N6.

PAWN WARS UPDATE

Two Pawn Wars tournaments have come and gone, and two facts seem to stick out. The first is a good turnout, with 12 players at the first battle and 10 at the second. The second fact is that tough fights are the standard, with some remarkably surprising results. Steve Turmo gave up draws to Cliff Berger and LaMoyné Splichal, Splichal gave up a draw to Mike Sailer and pulled off a draw against John Leitel, and Cliff Berger had a bad day at the second battle when he was defeated by Mike Sailer and then drew with Neil Wenberg. It is beginning to seem like one doesn't know what to expect. The only thing that is for sure is that if you show up to play, you will get a stiff challenge from almost anyone! Also, defending champion Rick Case missed the second battle and will have a tough time keeping his title. Jerry Triggs has let that be known by jumping out to 2 point lead with 5½ points out of a possible total of 6. Good Luck to all and hope to see you at the next Pawn Wars.
